Janiene Wilson is a practising clinical psychologist and analytic psychotherapist. Her interest is in the convergence of psychology with theology and spirituality, and the unique pastoral dilemmas that the Church must now face and address.
This graduate course introduces students to various models of pastoral counselling that are integral to the process of ministry and encourages critical reflection upon this. Emphasis will be both on learning the function of basic counselling skills within the pastoral context and on theological reflection upon this form of pastoral activity.

At the end of this unit students will be able to:

1. Appraise, and critically reflect upon, the role of pastoral counselling skills in ministry
2. Distinguish between, and appraise, various pastoral counselling models
3. Interpret how various components of the pastoral counselling relationship apply to ministry
4. Exhibit basic listening and reflective skills
5. Apply an understanding of the ethics of the practice of pastoral counselling in ministry

Sessions will be held:

9:30am – 4:00pm

On the following days:

3rd February
3rd – 4th March
28th – 29th April

Unit Costs:
- For Academic Credit: $1980
