This graduate course unit is designed to provide students with an understanding of the person and saving work of Jesus Christ. It seeks to explore this understanding in the light of contemporary Christian thought and life. It focuses on New Testament Christology, the Great Christological Councils, Patristic and Medieval soteriology, and Contemporary soteriological themes.

Dr Rohan Curnow has taught theology at CIS since 2010. He has also taught theology at ACU and St Augustine’s Seminary in Toronto, Canada. He holds a Th.D. from the University of Toronto, the S.T.D. in systematic theology from Regis College, and is a Ph.D. candidate in intellectual history at the Australian National University in Canberra.

PLEASE NOTE:

Students who have completed:

T7231 The Person and Work of Christ

may not register in this unit.
